

ENGLAND NOW FORMALLY PROTESTS

Says Free Tolls for American
Ships Violation of Hay-
Pauncfote Treaty

DEMANDS EITHER REPEAL OF LAW OR ARBITRATION

Ambassador Bryce Presents
Note to Knox; U. S. Not Likely to Grant Demands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The protest of Great Britain against the principle of free tolls for American ships in an American canal, was filed officially last night with Secretary Knox and simultaneously in the British Parliament, the main points in the protest being that such free tolls are a clear violation of the Clayton-Bulwer and Hay-Pauncfote treaties.

The case of Great Britain was presented by Sir Edward Grey, minister of foreign affairs, and was communicated to Secretary Knox by James Bryce, the British ambassador, accompanied by the counsellor of the British embassy, Mitchell Innes.

The objections set forth by Sir Edward Grey are an amplification of the short note of Counselor Innes, presented July 6, of this year, prior to the passage of the Panama Canal act. The protest sets forth that the treaty rights of Great Britain have been violated by the legislation favoring American ships. Warning is given that another protest will follow if it is held by the government of the United States that the disbarment from use of the canal of ships in which any railroad under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission has an interest or ships whose owners may be adjudged guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust laws, is constitutional.

The note states that the British government now assumes that these two classes do not apply to or affect British ships. The note also declares that Great Britain is willing to submit the matter to arbitration if the United States prefers.

The protest disclaims any attempt on the part of Great Britain to deny the right of the United States to grant subsidies to its shipping, and thus deprive it of the same rights enjoyed by other nations and which will send subsidized vessels through the Panama canal.

The arguments on the main point at issue are that in the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncfote treaty of 1901 it must be considered with the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850, which it superseded; and that if any American ships are granted the free use of the canal British ships using the canal will be forced to bear more than a proper share of the burden of the cost of the upkeep of the canal and interest charges on its cost of construction. This, it is claimed, is in violation of the clause of the Hay-Pauncfote treaty which declares that all charges made by the United States for the use of the canal shall be just and equitable.

It is not believed here that there will be either a yielding to Great Britain's demands or a submission of the matter to arbitration, as it seems to be generally accepted that the issue of free tolls being one of the internal affairs of the United States, and the entire matter being one of national honor and "vital" interest, it does not come within any treaty between the two countries and therefore the United States is not obliged to arbitrate. A proper consideration of the matter and a suitable reply will be made by the United States.

Bulls and Bears Join in Raiding Stock Market

Trading List Crumples; Railroad Shares all Lost at Least 1 Point Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—With the banks refusing to lend money except on gilt-edged securities, leading bulls and bears joined in a raid on the stock market today and the entire trading list crumpled. Reports that various pools had collapsed, served to cause further demoralization. There were fractional recoveries at noon, but practically all standard railroad shares lost at least one point.

The market opened weak, the bears immediately beginning an attack. National Biscuit stock dropped 11 points to 114; Bethlehem Steel lost 4, and Lehigh Valley 2 1/2. During the first hour 386,290 shares of stock changed hands. At noon sales had totaled 63,400 shares, the largest two hours' trading since October 11, 1911.

BIG CHECK MARKS UNION OIL CO. SALE

General Petroleum Company of This State Purchaser of Rich Investment

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—A check for $500,000 handed to Robert Watchorn, treasurer of the Union Oil Company, by Eugene de Saba, Jr., yesterday, marked the sale of the Union Oil Company of California. Mr. de Saba is president of the General Petroleum Company, which is to take over the control of the Union Oil Company within two years, according to the terms of the agreement.

The price of the stock which figures in the sale is $130 a share, less commissions. The total amount involved in the transaction is about $500,000.

Mr. de Saba and his associates are expected to complete the purchase within two years, and during that time the policy and personnel of the Union Oil Company will remain unchanged. Mr. Watchorn says it is the wish of Mr. de Saba that no change be made during that period. The deal, however, means the retirement of Lyman Stewart, the oldest active pioneer oil man in the United States.

Stock Mite High Marks
Negotiations leading up to the $500,000 payment had been going on for more than a month, during which time Union Oil stocks touched the highest point in their history, trading at times having been very heavy.

ASK FRUIT MEN TO CONVE HERE

Local Civic Bodies Send Invitation to California Fruit Growers' Association

BISHOP TO PRESENT IT TO CONVENTION

Will Give Local Growers Opportunity to Hear Able Men Discuss Vital Subjects

Today a telegram was sent to Fresno inviting the California State Fruit Growers' Association to meet in Santa Ana for its next convention.

The invitation is issued by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Ana Merchants & Manufacturers' Association. The telegram was directed to Orange county's horticultural commissioner, R. K. Bishop, who is chairman of the horticultural commissioners' section, and who will present the invitation to the convention.

The next convention will be held in June, and should Santa Ana fail to land that meeting it is hoped that it will secure the convention to be held next December.

It is believed that a convention of this character not only would bring men to the county from all over the state but it would also give local growers who would attend the sessions of the convention the benefit of the discussions of practical subjects conducted by the able horticultural men of this state.

PUPILS PETITION FOR LIBERTY BELL ON BOSTON STREETS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—Mrs. Emma Doane of San Francisco, chosen the emissary of half a million school children who want the old Liberty bell transported across the continent in 1915, for the Panama-Pacific Exposition, went to the State House a day or two ago and had her first look at the relic.

"Why," she said, "out in San Francisco, we all thought that it was hanging outside and that you rang it sometimes. I had no idea that I would find it in a glass case. But I don't blame you for taking such good care of it, for it is priceless."

This morning the school children's petition was mounted on an automobile truck and taken to the mayor's office. Mrs. Doane presented it to Mayor Blankenburg. Following the interview, the petition was taken through the principal streets, so the public could see it.

BUSINESS OF SUPERIOR COURT HERE INCREASED MORE RAPIDLY THAN IN THE RIVERSIDE COURT

Comparison Shows This County Leading in Criminal Probate and Registration, Riverside in Civil and Insanity Departments

A few days ago the Register published editorially from the Riverside Press a statement that Riverside's superior court does nearly fifty per cent more business than the Orange county court. The Register added the following comment:

"We do not know where the Press gets its information as to the relative amounts of business in the courts of the two counties, but venture to express the belief that the court of Riverside county does not transact fifty per cent more business than does the court of Orange county."

Since then the Register has secured statements from the county clerks of Orange and Riverside counties, and the facts as produced by those offices show that the superior court of Riverside county not only does not do nearly fifty per cent more business than does Orange county, but actually does not do any more, if as much.

Both counties have increased in various lines of courthouse business, but taking the courthouse over, Orange county has undoubtedly the biggest increase. The assessor of this county has had many subdivisions put on the books, each lot of which requires a separate assessment and a separate tax notation.

The criminal business of this county has more than doubled in the last year. In fact, the eleven months of 1912 just gone by found sixty-one informations filed in the superior court of this county as against thirty-two in 1911 and thirty-two in 1910. Comparing these figures with the number of informations filed in the superior court of Riverside county, it is found that in 1910 Riverside's superior court had thirty-seven; 1911, twenty-nine; 1912, forty-three.

Orange county's superior court had fifty per cent more criminal business this year than had Riverside, and criminal trials take considerable time, and take precedence over civil cases on the calendar.

Some of the trials in this county this year, such as the Sainz, Biggs and Bombala murder trials, the Peabody and Macdonald rape trials, the Rawlings bigamy trial, the Stock bogus check trial, and the Measor liquor trial, have taken all the way from three or four days to three or four weeks each. The criminal calendar alone shows that the Riverside paper must have made its statement unguardedly.

Criminal work has more than doubled the work of the office of the district attorney, and it seems more than probable that the grand jury will be asked to recommend additional deputies for that office, as well as for the sheriff's office, which has found itself tied up many times with criminal work.

In the eleven months of 1912 Orange county's clerk filed ninety more civil and probate cases than were filed in twelve months of 1910. In the eleven months of 1912 Riverside's clerk filed but ten more cases than were filed in the twelve months of 1910.

In the last eleven months Orange county's clerk filed 178 probate cases as against 143 filed in Riverside county in the same period, and 234 civil cases as against Riverside's 302.

Riverside has the best of it on civil cases, but is behind this county in criminal and probate business. Riverside's superior court has almost doubled its insanity business in 1912, having forty-three cases. This year Orange county had twenty insanity cases, not including inebriates.

In the juvenile court, Riverside handled thirty-one cases, and Orange county twenty-two.

The county clerk of this county had almost 4000 more registrations this year than Riverside's clerk had to handle. As a possible indication of the growth of the two counties in population, the following figures are interesting:

On Nov. 8, 1910, Orange county had 8129 registered voters, and on that day cast 6447 votes. The same day Riverside county had 7530 registered voters and cast 6017 votes.

On Nov. 5, 1912, Orange county's registration was 17,353 and the county cast 11,420 votes. The same day Riverside's registration was 13,780, and the vote cast in Riverside county was 10,592. Riverside cast within 3100 of its registration, while Orange county fell short of its registration by 5933.

These figures will all be submitted to the grand jury, which under the new law make an investigation into the conditions of the various offices and make recommendations, if it sees fit, in regard to changes in compensation and additional deputies. The grand jury expects to devote several days to the investigation, which will probably be taken up among the last duties of that body.

State Senator John N. Anderson seems to be convinced that both Riverside and Orange counties need to have a new judgeship created in order to handle the growing business of the two counties.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY HERE TO STAY

Will Neither Fuse Nor Compromise With Other Parties
Says Col. Roosevelt

LEGISLATORS URGED TO PUSH PARTY PRINCIPLES

Till They Become Laws of the Land; Educational Meetings are Advocated

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's speech was the feature of the Progressive conference here today. He insisted that the Progressive party had come to stay, and pleaded for Progressives in Congress and legislatures to promulgate progressive doctrines, especially to foster legislation tending to super-vise trusts.

"We have fought a great fight," the Colonel said. "We have accomplished more in ninety days than any party in history has accomplished in an equal time. We have forced other parties to at least give lip service to Progressive principles."

He renewed his charges of the theft of delegates at the Chicago convention; declared for popular contributions to campaign funds; declared the willingness of the party to accept large sums for campaign expenses if honestly offered without condition, and urged general primaries and general educational meetings in school houses for discussion and study of economic problems. Referring to the administration of judicial and legislative government, he said:

"The doctrine of the divine right of judges to rule the people is every whit as ignoble as that of the divine right of kings. The constitution was created to secure justice. We progressives have refused to permit it to be perverted so as to become a barrier between the people and justice."

"Every law proposed in our platform," the Colonel said, "should be forced into the statutes. Our people should expound our policies. We must keep in mind that the Progressive party is committed to the measures we advocate until they become the law of the land. If legislatures or courts stand in the way, then in lawful manner, along the lines laid down by the national platform, we must see that all public servants, judicial, executive and legislative, do their duty to the full."

"Fifty years ago a party of conservatives championed an interpretation of the constitution perpetuating chattel slavery for negroes. Correspondingly, conservatives of today champion an interpretation of the constitution perpetuating slavery for white women and children."

"Progressives should support the constitutional amendment introduced by Senator Bristow for the popular control of government. In the matter of leadership, both local and national, we may trust that events of the next year or two may develop our ablest and most resourceful men for every place, not with reference to their own desires but to the good of the entire people. No man can come into our party with the idea that he may establish a claim. He must be content to serve the opportunity when it offers."

No Fusion, Says T. R.
In conference yesterday afternoon with twenty-eight Progressive members of the Illinois state legislature and the state Progressive committee, Colonel Roosevelt declared emphatically against affiliation with the Republican party. He said:

"There can be no compromise. If the Republicans want fusion, let them join with the Progressives in enacting genuine progressive legislation. From the attitude of the hundreds of delegates here, it is evident that Colonel Roosevelt voices their sentiment exactly on his outspoken and emphatic declaration against fusion."

Colonel Roosevelt, Oscar Straus, James R. Garfield, Senator Joseph Dixon, and Jane Addams were cheered loudly when they entered the hall. Colonel Roosevelt shook hands warmly with Miss Addams. Senator Dixon called the meeting to order at 11:05. Jane Addams received an ovation when she addressed the meeting. She was introduced as the "Veteran of the Tenth Legion of Gaul." She spoke briefly.

Before noon today there were more than 1100 Progressives registered.

The California display was under charge of C. L. Wilson, manager of the chamber of commerce exhibit department of this city, assisted by D. W. McDannald of Santa Ana and James A. Jasper of San Diego.

Lectures were given during the afternoon and evening of each day, and according to Mr. Wilson it was almost impossible to accommodate the throngs that gathered to hear them.

The exposition closed Saturday night.

How Moose Jaw Got Its Name.

Moose Jaw is a strange name for a city, and it may be of interest to know how such a name was given. Some fifty years ago, so the story goes, a pioneer with his team of oxen and "prairie schooner," while passing along the banks of the river, was obliged to camp at this point, in Saskatchewan, on account of an accident to his cart as a spoke had fallen out during the day, and the wheel was falling apart. He looked around for something to insert for a temporary brace for the wheel, while his wife busied herself with the evening meal. The pioneer's child, while romping around, found the jawbone of a moose, which she held up to her father, who by this time almost despaired of finding something with which to mend his wagon, and was delighted to find that the jawbone exactly fitted the place of the missing spoke. The Indians thereafter named this part of the river "The Place Where the White Man Found the Moose Jaw." This accounts for the town's unforgettable name.—London Standard.

An Extensive Shave.

When Salmon P. Chase was a school-boy at Worthington, O., he was one day left at home with orders to kill and dress a pig while Bishop Chase and most of the older members of the family were gone. In telling of this experience he wrote in an old letter:

"I had no trouble in catching and slaughtering a fat young porker. I had the tub of water all ready for plunging him in, preparatory to taking off his bristles. Unfortunately, however, the water was too hot, or perhaps when I soused the pig I kept him in too long. At any rate, when I undertook to remove the bristles I couldn't start one of them. They were set! But that pig had to be dressed. I bethought me of my cousin's razor—a new one, just purchased by that spruce young clergyman. No sooner said than done! I got the razor and shaved the pig from tail to snout."

This is undoubtedly one of the most extensive shaves on record.

What Rules the World.

Many years ago John Brougham, Lester Wallack, Artemus Ward and others used to meet after the play at Windhurst's, in Park row, in New York. One night the question, "What rules the world?" arose, and various opinions were expressed. William Ross Wallace, who was present, retired before long and some time later called Thomas J. Leigh from the room and handed to him a poem which he had just written. Mr. Leigh read it aloud to the company, and Mr. Brougham made a happy little speech of acknowledgment. The thing was entitled "What Rules the World," and the first stanza ran:

They say that man is mighty,
He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty scepter
O'er lesser powers that be,
But a mightier power and stronger
Man from his throne has hurled,
And the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world.

Punishment For a Thief.

"Richard, by the grace of God, king of England. . . . If any one east any reproach or bad word against another or invoke God's malison on him let him for every offense pay an ounce of silver. Let a convicted thief be shorn like a prizefighter, after which let boiling pitch be poured on his head and a feather pillow be shaken over it so as to make him a laughing stock. Then let him be put ashore at the first land where the ships touch. Witness myself at Chignon." These are two of the ordinances of Chignon quoted by Miss Maude M. Holbach in "In the Footsteps of Richard Coeur de Lion."

Sharp Practice.

"I took her home in a taxicab. She asked me to come in and meet her mother. I told the taxicab man to wait. Her mother proved very entertaining."

"Yes."

"The taxicab man waited two hours."

"What's the answer?"

"Why, I found out afterward that her mother was a stockholder in the taxicab company."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Awkwardly Put.

This is one of the things one would rather have put differently: Mr. Bumbleup (at fancy dress ball)—I must apologize for coming in ordinary evening dress. Hostess—Well, you really have the advantage of us. We're all looking more foolish than usual, and you're not.—London Punch.

Crushed.

"If I could only die and leave you well off," he said after they had had their first quarrel, "I would be glad to go."

"How," she cruelly asked, "could you die and leave me otherwise than well off?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Rather Marsh.

The famous baritone had been giving his concert and the critic from the country was asked:

"How was the timbre of his voice?"

"Well," said the critic, "it seemed to me to be full of knotholes."—Harper's.

Correct Diagnosis.

Patient—Shall I have to give up beer, doctor? Doctor—No; I shan't forbid it to you. Patient—It's extraordinary, doctor, what confidence I have in you.

—Fleigende Blatter.

A Mental Marvel.

Gabe—Has Jones a good memory? Steve—I should say he has. He can name you the last six vice presidents of the United States.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HOLYLAND PLANTS TO BE TRIED HERE

Dr. Julius Aaronson Believes
Wild Wheat of Palestine
Will be Success

Los Angeles Tribune: Following a study of California plant life, an interchange of Holy Land plants and shrubs with growers of this section, and securing many varieties of California seeds and bulbs to transplant in the eastern country, Dr. Julius Aaronson, director of the Jewish Experiment station at Haisa, Palestine, and discoverer of the wild wheat of Palestine, left last night for Fresno, where he will pursue his studies before returning to his duties at the school.

Many plants were brought to Los Angeles by Dr. Aaronson from the Holy Land, and the propagation of these plants will be taken up by horticulturalists of Southern California with the hope of growing and grafting new varieties that will produce without irrigation.

The principal of these importations is the wild wheat of Palestine, which will be blended with the stronger varieties of the United States, and if the claims made for it prove correct will be grown in quantities without irrigation.

A Wanderer Escape.

Fieschl tried to assassinate King Louis Philippe of France in July, 1835. The king was riding along the lines of the national guard in the Boulevard du Temple. There came a crash and a rush of bullets. Louis Philippe's arm was grazed, his horse was shot in the neck, Marshal Mortier fell dead and about thirteen other people were killed and thirty wounded. Fieschl had taken the upper floors of a house several weeks before and there rigged up an oak frame four feet by three feet six inches, supported on four posts of oak and itself supporting twenty-five gun barrels fixed in grooves at various angles so as to command an area of twenty-five feet in length and ten feet in height. When he fired the train of powder that let off his battery the king would have been killed if four barrels had not burst and two missed fire.

Sorrows of Authorship.

"Paradise Lost" brought Milton only a paltry £5—about $25 of our money.

Hawthorne for twenty years continued to be, to use his own words, "the obscurest man of letters in America." "There is not much market for my wares," he said at another time.

Thoreau is an interesting example. A thousand copies of his "A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers" were printed, but very few of these were sold, and a considerable number were given away by the author. The remainder were returned to him and were stored in his attic. He grimly observed, "I have now a library of 900 volumes, the greater portion of which I myself have written."—New York Press.

Railway Station Library.

In the refreshment room of a Sussex (England) railway station the traveler may see a small rack of books. If he is sufficiently curious to look he will discover from a written label that the books are the property of the vicar of the town, who places them at the disposal of any passenger who likes to take a volume away, the only condition being that he shall return the volume to its place on his return or post it to the vicar.

His Part.

Magistrate (to witness)—I understand that you overheard the quarrel between the defendant and his wife? Witness—Yes, sir. Magistrate—Tell the court, if you can, what he seemed to be doing. Witness—He seemed to be doing the listening!

Pretty Bad.

Wife—Tom, I wish you wouldn't play poker. I don't even like the name of the game. Hub—Why not? Wife—It suggests "playing with fire."—Boston Transcript.

NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

A Scientist's Criticism of a Comic Book For Children.

Charles Monselet, a Frenchman of letters, published a comic "scientific dictionary" for the benefit of children, who found no little amusement in his odd accounts of things in the animal world which were perfectly familiar to them, but which were described in a rather fantastic way in M. Monselet's book.

The editor of a certain scientific journal, however, was much surprised and shocked at M. Monselet's ignorance when he took up the book, and he wrote an article about it in his paper, which ran as follows:

"A certain M. Monselet has published a dictionary for the use of children, which contains definitions showing the most extraordinary ignorance, such as the following:

"Sardine—A little fish without any head which lives in oil."

"As if a fish could live without a head and in oil!"

"Another definition:

"Parrot—A bird somewhat resembling the pigeon, generally green when it is not red or yellow or blue. Cockatoos sometimes live to be a hundred years old, except when they are stuffed, and then there is no limit to the length of their life."

"Now, it happens that the parrot is not a pigeon at all and never has the colors that M. Monselet gives to him, and, in short, this M. Monselet knows no more of natural history than he has grains of common sense."

How He Took the Pickle.

The physician had been treating a man for dyspepsia for a long time, and finally, wishing to know how his patient was coming on, he told him to take a pickle just before going to bed and see if he could hold it, on his stomach overnight. The next day the man called, and the physician asked him the result.

"Oh, it was all right, doctor," he said, "as long as I was awake, but when I went to sleep it rolled off."

The Duchess of Connaught's Story.

We were once staying with the Abercorns, relates Lord Rossmore in "Things I Can Tell," when the Duke and Duchess of Connaught honored them with a visit, and my hostess said to me, "Now, I count on you to amuse the duchess after dinner." Lord Rossmore told her many stories. Then the duchess said: "I think it is my turn to try to relate something funny, so I'll tell you what happened to the duke and myself coming up here. At every station where the train stopped a porter came up to our carriage with a foot warmer, and at last the duke got so annoyed that, forgetting the same thing had occurred all down the line, he said to the man: 'Go away. I've told you three or four times already that I won't have a foot warmer.' 'Ach, duke, darlin', don't be angry,' answered the porter. 'Sure, an' it's stone cold.'"

"I WON'T HAVE A FOOT WARMER."

Twig of the Family Tree.

Arthur was the feeble minded son of a family who were none too bright themselves. The father was often compelled to apologize for his son's remarks when they had company. One day the family entertained the minister for dinner, and Arthur made a remark that called for an explanation.

"You see," began the father, "when Arthur was a small boy he ran away and wandered into the woods. A big storm came up and blew a limb off a tree, striking him on the head. Since the accident he has never been very bright."

Arthur was silent for a few moments before he blurted out:

"Hub! It was a darn long limb—struck the whole family."—National Monthly.

A Ville Slander.

One of the curiosities of the house of commons, very rarely seen, was Eric Drax, for many years member for a Dorsetshire borough. Once at a general election on the day previous to the nomination he put out the following address to his constituents: "Electors of Wareham! I understand that some evil disposed person has been circulating a report that I wish my tenants and other persons dependent upon me to vote according to their conscience. This is a dastardly lie, calculated to injure me. I have no wish of the sort. I wish and I intend that these persons shall vote for me."

NOTABLE NATIVE DAUGHTER DEAD

Senora Francisca Escandon de Sanchez Descendant of Old, Wealthy Family

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Senora Francisca Escandon de Sanchez, descendant of one of California's oldest and wealthiest families, is dead.

With her demise from old age at the home of one of her daughters, Mrs. J. M. Barker, at No. 1616 Bridge street, Sunday, California lost one of its historic feminine notables, a woman who in her 74 years of life witnessed the evolution of the state from the days before its organization and admission to the Union to the present time.

Senora Escandon was the widow of the late ex-Senator Angel G. Escandon, one of the first senators from what was then Ventura county, elected in 1874, two years after the county was created, and who divided it into Santa Barbara and Ventura. She survived her husband a full quarter of a century and since his death has lived in Los Angeles.

The Senora was born on the Rancho Santa Clara, her father's great property, in what is now Ventura county, in 1838, eleven years before the state constitution was framed and adopted, twelve years before California was admitted to statehood and thirty-four years before Ventura became a county. Don Juan Sanchez, once owner of vast tracts of California, was her father.

S. P. PLANNING NEW TEHACHAPI LINE

Sproule Seeks $10,000,000 for Lower Grade Between Mojave and Bakersfield

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific company, left for New York last night for an indefinite stay to confer with the bankers in control of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific companies about the dissolution order of the United States supreme court.

Mr. Sproule is also to take up with the eastern bankers the question of spending $10,000,000 for a second and lower grade line over the Tehachapi mountains between Bakersfield and Mojave, surveys for which were recently approved. This is a Southern Pacific project, one said to be necessary because of the growth of traffic.

The Santa Fe jointly uses the present line over the Tehachapis with the Southern Pacific, and will also use the new track, ultimately paying half of its cost.

Another subject to be taken up is relative to the Associated Oil and the Kern Trading and Oil companies' lands, which it is believed the United States government is to attack, in part at least, when it files its suit in the federal court at Los Angeles against 125,000 acres of oil lands in California originally patented to the Southern Pacific Railroad company, which are said to have a value of about $500,000,000.

JEFFERSON LEADS IN Y.M.C.A. CONTEST

Interest Keen in Charter Membership competition in City Grammar Schools

Interest and keen rivalry is still being manifested in the Y. M. C. A. boys' charter membership contest which is now in full swing among the students of the various grammar schools of the city. Jefferson school is now considerably in the lead in the number of points obtained and the students of the other schools will have to work pretty hard to overtake the Jefferson boys during the present week.

Members obtained between now and next Saturday count fifteen points each. The contest will close on next Saturday evening with a big boys' social to be held in the basement of the United Presbyterian church. At this social refreshments will be served and a general good time is promised. The beautiful banner will be presented to the winning school in the membership contest at that time.

There are at present eighty members of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department, and it is the desire of the officers to obtain at least twenty more to bring the total up to 100. The membership fee is $1, and all names should be taken to Martin Warren at the postoffice.

FORBES IS AGAINST THE JONES BILL

Gov. Gen. of Philippines Says Talk of Independence for Filipinos is Absurd

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Governor General William Cameron Forbes, who left here yesterday for Seattle, whence he will sail for the Philippines December 16, is out in warm disapprobation of the Jones "Independence" bill. Forbes says that any talk of free self-government for the Filipinos, beyond the autonomy given them under the present administration, is absurd.

He predicts that the opening of the Panama canal will end once and for all Filipino aspirations for independence. The growth of trade will be such, says Forbes, that the Filipinos, who are developing remarkable genius for commerce, will be the last to wish the political alliance with the United States severed.

Forbes returned to his New England home a very sick man in May last. His leave of absence has completely restored his health, and he goes back to Manila ready to end his term as governor general by another spell of hard work in the interest of Filipinos and Americans.

He had a long conference with President Taft, Brigadier General McIntyre, director of the bureau of insular affairs, and his predecessor, General James Francis Smith, of San Francisco, Cal., while the latter was in Washington. General Smith is now one of the judges of the court of customs appeals, and one of the most popular Californians in the capital.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No Headache, Bad Taste, Sour Stomach or Coated Tongue by Morning

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—Advertisement.

HEADQUARTERS FOR WOMEN AT CAPITAL

Hotel Sacramento Chosen; Mrs. Swan Reports Women's Measures Well Under Way

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Headquarters of all women delegates to Sacramento from clubs and other organizations interested in legislative measures will be at the Hotel Sacramento, where rooms have been acquired by Mrs. George Swan, chairman of legislation for the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Through the personal effort of Mrs. Swan, who has traveled up and down the state four times in as many weeks for the purpose of attending legislative conferences, the best possible results in interest and enthusiasm have been obtained.

During the session beginning January 6 the federation will act as hostess to visiting women, and the state legislative council will meet at the hotel to discuss and explain all bills to be introduced at the instance of women.

Mrs. Swan's report of the conference held last week in Sacramento contains satisfactory encouragement to all laboring upon bills for introduction.

The mother's pension bill is receiving attention from many sides and is already drafted and thoroughly prepared.

The matter of a state vocational school for girls is being recognized by the authorities as imperative and will be made the subject of a special bond issue to be voted upon by the people.

Mrs. Swan also reports unwavering attention to detail on the part of the women and believes that the session will be remarkable for the place taken by them in the introduction of important and far-reaching measures.

FAMOUS FIGHTERS WILL BE GUESTS OF NAT'L GUARDSMEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Thirty-three survivors of the famous Irish brigade will be guests of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, National Guard, at its armory, next Friday and Saturday nights to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Fredericksburg.

The brigade's five attempts to storm Marye's heights that day cost the brigade 554 men out of 1315.

JOY OF FIGHTING.

It is not the victory that makes the joy of noble hearts, but the combat.—Montaigne.

A strenuous soul hates cheap success. It is the assailant that makes the vigor of the defendant.—Emerson.

The effects of opposition are wonderful. There are men who rise refreshed on hearing of a threat—men to whom a crisis which intimidates and paralyzes the majority comes graceful and beloved as a bride.—Emerson.

Opposition inflames the enthusiast, never converts him.—Schiller.

THE LAW OF PROGRESS

Whether or not the proposed new city charter shall be adopted, it is inevitable that, within a few years a special charter for Santa Ana will, must and shall be adopted.

The world moves, nothing stands still. If this city does not advance in municipal methods, it will retrograde—at least be left hopelessly in the rear of the procession, hampered and handicapped by antiquated and discarded municipal machinery.

Government by freeholder charters is of comparatively recent origin. In 1883 the legislature of this state created a set of charters which are known as statutory charters. These charters served their purpose very well and were the ready-made clothing, so to speak, in the line of charters. That is to say, depending on its population, any community could elect to have one of these charters for its government. It is under one of these ready-made charters that Santa Ana is operating, although the city is now more than twice as large as it was when its ready-made charter was chosen. How would a man look and feel if compelled to wear a suit of clothes purchased for him when he was a half-grown boy, and which then fitted him very well?

Generally speaking a freeholders charter is so broad and flexible that under it a city may have and do anything it pleases that does not contravene the constitution of the United States or that of the state of California.

In mental comparison of statutory charter with freeholders charter, for a city like Santa Ana, we are reminded of the purchase of a Burroughs adding machine by a bank. After a few months the maker wrote the bank asking how it liked the machine. The cashier answered the letter, and this is what he said: "We like the machine very much, and as compared with former methods it is like comparing a Baldwin locomotive to Pullman's Ass."

With very few exceptions, all cities in California of over 6000 to 8000 population have adopted special or freeholders charters. Not one, so far as we have ever heard regrets doing so. In nearly every instance the charter first adopted has been or is to be amended. If we adopt the proposed new charter we shall, in all probability, have to amend it. All of which simply goes to show that things which are the product of human minds are changing, and mostly for the better.

THE OPENING OF CONGRESS

The convening of the American parliament always seems a historic occasion. The dispatches tell of crowded galleries, a picture enlivened by the color of bright millinery, and the pressure of jostling spectators.

A close analysis of the crowd would probably show that most of them were either wives of the newer congressmen or brides and grooms and other wayfarers, and the listless habitués of the park benches driven under cover by December weather.

The formal annual communication between the most powerful ruler on earth, and the selected representatives of the most dominating race, seems like an event. One imagines furs and feathers and splendor.

Actually the president's message is read by the clerk with the high record for syllables per second. Desk covers bang, newspapers rattle, pages scurry, disputatious groups of representatives argue in undertones. A newspaper man present on one such occasion counted 15 congressmen enjoying the luxury of a dry smoke, and bending frequently to the carpet for the customary relief.

Such congressmen as remain in their seats may not be considering the words of the president. More likely they are thinking how the 50,000 applicants for the Civil List of the House can be accommodated out of the 500 positions controlled by congressmen. The American people at their election a month ago chose a new body of men to do their public business. Yet the men who now meet for that purpose are those who were elected back in the year 1910. The present arrangement was built for a time when it took several weeks for news to crawl across the country, and as many more for representatives to travel horseback or by sailing ship to the capitol.

In private business, if you hire a man, you want him to go to work for you in 30 days at most. Some time when the government is reorganized on efficiency ideas, the long gap between an election and a new administration will be shortened.

SHOPLIFTING

There are increased complaints of stealing from stores, particularly during the holiday season. Shoplifting is developed to a systematized and efficient industry in large cities. Any large sized store in a town where there are many strangers suffers more or less.

The public supposes that it all comes out of the merchant, and that he can afford it well enough.

Actually the public pays. One merchant known to the writer instructs his clerks that they must watch everybody. Department stores in the larger cities employ their special detectives. These precautions involve an extra labor expense, and interrupt the work of the regular clerks. The merchant figures it in as one of his "overhead charges." The public sweetly pays for its own crooked ways in the price of goods.

When college young people steal signs, it is regarded as indicating that they possess a keen sense of humor. A collection showing prowess in the act of larceny is supposed to display more spirit than the capture of a prize for good scholarship. Just why it is more glorious to steal a sign that cost some merchant $5.00, than to swipe a handkerchief costing 25 cents, does not appear to the uneducated man.

Many people of high standing make collections of table ware and linen swiped from hotels. All that is added to the cost of operating a hotel, and calmly paid for by the traveling public. All this must have its influence over a host of weak headed people who are governed only by fear of the police. The moral forces and ideals on which all business is founded never seem to touch them. To tell them that a thing is right or wrong is just like talking in a foreign language.

When you figure out the cost of living, put a round sum against crime, big and little. In the old days when children were taught

It is a sin
To steal a pin,
You could do business for less money.

If Senator Gore of Oklahoma, is selected to be floor leader of the Democrats of the Senate there may be an instance of the physically blind leading the other kind if the party does not behave itself.

President Wilson, when the time comes will be obliged to send a special message to congress reading something like this: "Dear Congress, If you love me, love my Bryan."

Man is gifted with superior intelligence. For instance, teaching him to drink is much easier than instructing a calf in the same process.

Football Coach Houghton of Harvard, receives $10,000 a year. Wonder if he consents to associate with the $2000 professors?

However, the Editor shall be the sole judge as to the propriety of publishing any communication, and the Register assumes no responsibility for any views that may be expressed in this column.

Editor Register: In Saturday's Register you published a resolution of protest from the Socialists of Santa Ana. The last paragraph, added by the Register, conveys the idea that the Socialists are protesting against county prisoners performing such minor tasks as mentioned. Such is not the case. The prisoners have been used in digging sewer trenches on Grand avenue. In Santa Ana, taking the place of citizens on public work.

Such a resolution as presented by the Socialists was in order and should be endorsed by every citizen. First because the prisoners should not be put in the place of citizens, and secondly, because if they are to be worked at all, outside of attending their needs in the jail, they should receive pay for the work performed.

Women Planning a Crusade

The time has come when young and middle aged ladies of modest and refined tastes, and elderly ladies whose health must be protected, feel that they must enter a protest against the absurd and barbarous fashion (or craze) of going bareheaded on the street, and having to remove their hats in church. Ladies are naturally dictated; that says women should dress to please mankind, but they should not be asked to do anything harmful, or unbecoming.

For nineteen centuries women have worn hats and bonnets, on the street and in the church. People have heard the sermons and profited thereby. There is only one place in the Bible where the fashion of women's dress is dictated, and that says that should not appear in public with uncovered heads. It looks bold and irreverent to see a lady going to church bareheaded. It would be only a little more ridiculous to go barefooted.

There should be a certain degree of respect shown in dress, in entering God's house. There is no place where one is subject to more drafts and temperatures than in church, and scores of people take cold in that way; consequently a great many ladies remain at home rather than comply with the unreasonable request. We are asked to remove our hats and yet no place is provided for them; no one can hold a hat and a hymn book at the same time. The effect of many a good sermon has been lost on account of outraged feelings. God has favored woman-kind with beautiful hair, which must be arranged with combs and pins. Hats cannot be removed without disarranging the hair, and cannot be properly adjusted without a glass. Many a lady looks like a perfect guy as she leaves the church. If the minister cannot be seen on account of the hats, then raise the pulpits as they are in England. You will not see English ladies bareheaded in the church, nor on the street.

In Washington's time ladies wore the large Gainsborough hat loaded with plumes, but the pulpit was high enough so that everybody could see the minister and the choir without gazing at the hats. Another vital reason why hats should be worn, is to protect the hair, eyes, and complexion, which is being ruined by the hot sun and dust. The soft, pretty face veil, which was such a protection, was necessarily abandoned. A few more years of this barbarous custom and you will not be able to distinguish an American lady from the yellow race. No man admires a coarse, masculine woman; all men admire feminine modesty and beauty.

BOILING AN EGG.

If It Gives You Trouble You Might Try John Randolph's Way.

The boiling of an egg seems a simple matter, but many a breakfast has been spoiled and many a temper rapped by the cook's failing to observe the precise number of minutes the process should occupy.

That very original man, John Randolph, is said to have invented a method of getting his eggs cooked exactly to his taste that worked perfectly. As is the case in many country homes in the south, the kitchen was in a separate building at some distance from the house, and servants were plenty.

When the "sage of Randolph" took his seat at the breakfast table there was a line of servants from the dining room to the kitchen. Mrs. Randolph, the mother of the statesman, held an open watch in her hand.

"In!" exclaimed Mr. Randolph, and the word "In" was passed from mouth to mouth until it reached the waiting cook, who dropped the eggs into the water. After the requisite number of seconds the holder of the timepiece signified that the cooking was done. "Out!" went forth the command in like manner, and the eggs were quickly removed.

The system required six or seven servants to cook one egg, but Randolph was accustomed to declare that this was the only way that he could get it cooked to suit him.—Youth's Companion.

AN INGENIOUS CLOCK.

Curious Automaton That Was Made in London a Century Ago.

One of the most wonderful timekeepers known to horologists was made in London, England, a hundred years ago and was sent by the president of the East India company as a gift to the emperor of China. The case was made in the form of a chariot, in which was seated the figure of a woman.

This figure was of pure ivory and gold, and the right hand rested upon a tiny clock, fastened to the side of the chariot. Portions of the wheels which kept track of the flight of time were hidden in the body of a tiny bird, which had seemingly just alighted upon the woman's finger.

There was a canopy above, so arranged as to conceal a silver bell. The bell was fitted with a little hammer, also of silver, which, although it did not appear to have any connection with the clock, struck the hours regularly and could be made to repeat by touching a diamond on the woman's bodice.

In the chariot, at the woman's feet, there was a golden figure of a dog, and above were two birds, apparently flying before the chariot. This beautiful ornament was made almost entirely of gold and was elaborately adorned with precious stones.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Never Can Happen Again.

The Montegrin law which ordains that any found valuable shall be placed where the loser can find it reminds one of an anecdote told of Grimaldi's grandfather in Dickens' life of the famous clown. On one of his visits to Lendhall market with nearly £400 in gold and silver upon him "he found that his shoe had become unbuckled, and, taking from his pocket the bag, he placed it upon a neighboring post and then proceeded to adjust his buckle." Having afterward to pay for a purchase, he missed his bag of gold and hurried back to the post where he had buckled his shoe. "Although more than three quarters of an hour had elapsed, . . . there it remained, safe and untouched, on the top of a post in the open street!" That was in eighteenth century London. Could it happen now?—London Chronicle.

A Curious Coincidence.

The story of a queer coincidence was told by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. While traveling upon the continent he visited a certain mountain inn, which was in winter, he learned, occupied only by two men. These men, prisoned in a waste of snow and ice, had for all that period no communication with the world below. Here was a situation for a novelist! And the novelist accordingly began to let his imagination play about the possibilities of tragedy surrounding the two men on their mountain height. But the story was never written, for, happening to come upon a volume of Guy de Maupassant, which was new to him, he found therein, under the title of "L'Angebre," the very story he had meant to write.

The Herons of Andalusia.

Of all the birds he had studied, said W. Farren in a lecture, none showed conjugal affection in quite the same way as the brown backed herons of Andalusia, in Spain. Whenever the husband relieved his wife at the nest he invariably laid his neck over hers in a momentary embrace and then took up his position while the other bird flew away. The herons never omitted this affectionate salutation.—London Standard.

Cause and Effect.

"I guess that's the trouble," said Jinks. "He probably uses a magnifying glass."—Harper's.

JOY OF CREATING.

Put Your Heart in Your Work, No Matter What It May Be.

While every man who makes a living is not a genius, yet the real joy of creating can belong to each of us in just as real and true a way. If we put into farming or banking or our school work the sense of making something we get the great treasure out of it. When we fill any task with ourselves we make something.

A girl says, "I made the room tidy," which simply means she put something of herself into the disorderly room and so beautified it. After she had made it tidy it reflected something of herself; it looked some idea of order such as she had in her own mind. A boy says, "I made a good recitation in school yesterday," and he is right, for, although the lesson was already there, it had to wait for him to come along and make it a recitation.

So it is everywhere. Making anything means, no matter how simple the task, that we bring out something that did not exist before and that that something is to some degree like the maker of it. We get out what we put in. If any one wants to be miserable the surest way is just to do things without putting his whole heart and self into them. Think of the mere outside of the tanks and they are not worth doing. But once put yourself into them and all that is changed.—St. Nicholas.

A LEGAL LEGEND.

The Tale of a Telling Comparison in an Oriental Court.

When Abd-el-Hakk was poor, as he was one day traveling across a weary plain, he came to the house of the Widow Zaidah, who was also poor, but when he made known his hunger she set before him two hard boiled eggs, all the food there was in her house.

Later, when Abd-el-Hakk lived in Marakesh and was very rich, Melud, the lawyer, desiring him, persuaded the Widow Zaidah to sue him for the eggs, but not for the eggs alone, for they would have become two chickens, which in time would have so multiplied that the whole fortune of Abd-el-Hakk would not now pay for them. When the case came to trial the rich man was not in court.

"Why is the defendant not here?" demanded the judge.

"My lord," said counsel for the defense, "he is gone to sow boiled beans."

"Boiled beans?"

"Boiled beans, my lord."

"Is he mad?"

"He is very wise, my lord. Surely if hard boiled eggs can be hatched boiled beans will grow."

The suit was promptly dismissed, with costs to the plaintiff.—Pearson's Weekly.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relief between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and no salves have long been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

We ourselves vouch for the D.D.D. Prescription for eczema and guarantee that it will take from the instant you apply it. If you are suffering from a skin trouble we would like to come to our store, for we have a remedy of this remedy for years that we can tell you D.D.D. Prescription and how eczema. In fact, we are so sure of this remedy that we will guarantee that it will cost you nothing to try it. For that matter a trial bottle ought to be enough to establish the merits of the remedy. ## ATTRACTIVE LECTURE

Ebell Music Section Hears Second of Miss Dresser's Talks; Also Good Music

Yesterday was the date for the regular monthly meeting of the Ebell Music Section and as usual Mrs. Hull's home was the place of meeting.

The line of work that is this year being presented to the members is proving instructive and attractive as well, and it was gratifying yesterday to see a number of new faces as members.

After the period for the discussion of current musical events, the musical portion of the program was given. Mrs. Phillips sang "Love Has Wings," by J. H. Rogers—a bright and pleasing number. Mrs. Strook followed with the effective "Boat Song," by Harriet Ware, and as a beautiful reminder of the approaching Christmas season Mrs. J. S. Rice gave "A Dream of Bethlehem," by Rodney. Mrs. Rice was pleasantly accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Willis Rice with the violin and piano.

Following the musical portion was the lecture, Miss Dresser's subject at the November meeting had been "The Music of the Bible and the Ancient Jews." This was appropriately followed yesterday by "The Music of the Early Christians and the Development of Notation." Miss Dresser gave an account of the decline of music during the first centuries of the Christian era because of its association with the dissolute customs of the times and its use in pagan worship and their degrading festivals. She traced this until the beginning of the upward trend during the reign of Constantine and cleverly showed by words and charts the gradual growth of our scale and present system of notation.

An interesting feature of this part of the program was an ancient hymn to St. John composed in the year 770 A. D. and from which a Benedictine monk—three centuries later—conceived the idea of naming the notes of the scale according to our present solfeggio system—do, re, mi, etc.

This hymn was sung by Miss Havens and Mrs. Rafferty—two able voices—as the music of those times was all for low voices.

"The Rosary" coming this evening at the Grand Opera House, is receiving liberal advance support. Tickets have been in demand from all parts of the county, many church people from Anaheim and other points planning to attend the play. The moral reputation of the production has preceded it to advantage, and many people who ordinarily are not players are anticipating real pleasure from "The Rosary."

"Her Choice" tonight. Indications for a good audience for "Her Choice," the amateur temperance play, to be presented by the Santa Ana "Ys" tonight at the College of Music, at 8 o'clock, are very flattering. The play has been thoroughly rehearsed and will be pleasingly given. Special numbers of readings

COLLEGE GIRLS' CHATTER SCORED BY PLAYWRITER

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 9.—The college girl whose conversational category includes such phrases as "The dearest dress," and who always has "the love-hest thing," who "just loves fudge," and "hates mathematics," and terms Robert Edson a "perfect dear," has just received a solar plexus at the hands of Mrs. Mary Green Conklin, who is studying the art of play writing at Radcliffe College.

"I wouldn't for the world say anything that would tend to make college girls defiant or antagonistic," said Mrs. Conklin, "but it amazes me that young aspirants for university degrees can be content to indulge their talk so continually with trivialities."

"College young people usually chatter when they should be dumb and when they ought to speak, are mum. Prone to every conceivable conversational vice, they talk universally in the language of wags. While one cannot say that they are illbred, they are given to the underbreeding of excess—excess in compliments, excess in striving after wit, excess in laughter."

"Undergraduates' talk often consists of the principle that that is the sort of jokelets or pretty speeches. More often it is college song nonsense, tiresomely reiterated and carried to the point of buffoonery. They are splendid babblers and wags, but conversationalists, never!"

and music to be given between acts have been arranged and these will prove an entertaining feature of the program.

The "Ys" have a large radius of friends from which to draw an audience and are confidently expecting to be greeted by many appreciative auditors this evening, and are as confidently expecting to present a deserving entertainment.

Missionary Meeting
The Missionary Society of the First Christian church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the parlors of the church. All the ladies of the church are very cordially invited.

Travel Club to Meet
The Young Ladies' Travel Club will meet with Miss Tiede on Wednesday afternoon.

Meeting Postponed
The meeting of the Art Study Club which was to have been held on Wednesday, December 11, has been postponed until the second Wednesday in January.

"Mock Trial" Soon
A mock trial in which the case of Jennie Brock will be taken up, will be held on Friday night, Dec. 13, at 7:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church by the Philathea and Baraca classes of that church. The members of the classes will be assisted by eminent talent, including Judge Z. B. West, Attorney A. E. Koepsel, H. C. Head and J. C. Burke, and Sheriff Ruddock.

The prisoners and witnesses will be from the two classes. A silver offering will be taken at the door, the proceeds of which will go towards the furnishing of rooms for the classes.

Everybody will be welcome at this public entertainment.

FROM OVER THE COUNTY

Scores Assembled at Annual Event Given at El Toro by Leading Ranchers

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Moulton with Mr. and Mrs. Perkins of the Whitney ranch recently sent invitations out to their friends over the county for the big ball that is given annually at El Toro hall. From 175 to 200 guests assembled at the hall last Saturday night in response to these invitations. The spacious room afforded an attractive spectacle, decorated generously with ferns and festoons of purple and white crepe paper. Good cheer reigned throughout the evening led by Mr. and Mrs. Moulton on whom the entire responsibility of entertaining had fallen as Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were unexpectedly detained at the last moment in Los Angeles. Mrs. Moulton, who is a young and beautiful woman, was entirely equal to the occasion and was most charming as a hostess, ably assisting Mr. Moulton at every point of hospitality. The Moultons opened the ball by leading the grand march from which the dancers dispersed into exhilarating valses, two-steps and occasional quadrilles.

At midnight a sumptuous supper was served with the Dragon catering. Fruitade was served all during the evening to the guests who had assembled from all over the county to enjoy the gala event. A number of Santa Ana people were present. The festivities continued until the wee small hours, and even then the guests were loath to depart, so replete with enjoyment had the evening proved. Sincere compliments on the successful event were paid in plenty to the genial host and hostess.

Music and the Drama

(By Herman Reuter.)

"The Chocolate Soldier" was presented at the Grand last night to a good-sized audience, which, however, was not as large as the performance merited. Not since "The Prince of Pilsen" was here, years ago, have we had a musical comedy so entirely tasteful in every detail as the "Soldier."

The piece is described on the program as an opera bouffe. It is really a high-class musical comedy. This is not a slur. It is a commendation. So seldom, nowadays, do we see a musical comedy that contains music and comedy (a comedy should have a plot) that when we come across a work like "The Chocolate Soldier," which has both, we must needs have it pretentiously designated as "comic opera" or "opera bouffe." True, portions of the dialogue are sung, but does this argue against our calling it musical comedy? However, "a rose by any other name," etc.

The story is based on George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man." Most of Shaw's cynical wit is retained and a deal of broad comedy added, which, while it has not, perhaps, the subtlety of the brilliant Irishman, is still sufficiently amusing, nevertheless.

You leave the theater after a performance of "The Chocolate Soldier" with your brain delightfully whirled with Oscar Straus' rollicking, robust music. The score sparkles and bubbles over with wit and healthy fun; occasionally, as in the long familiar "My Hero," it pulsates with thrilling sentiment, or with coquettish tenderness, as in "The Letter Song;" it is never sickly-sweet.

Nadina Popoff was beautifully sung and acted by Rena Vivienne. Her voice has a clear, sweet, bell-like quality which is strongly reminiscent of Alice Neilsen. Her smiles and her unmistakable interest in the proceedings are inimitable.

Charles Purcell acted and sang Lieutenant Bumeril, "The Chocolate Soldier," in a refined, devil-may-care sort of way that was very refreshing.

J. F. McDonough was a convincing egotistical, blustering Major Alexis Spiridonoff.

Lucile Saunders, last seen here with "The Californians" in "Robin Hood," gave an attractive rendering of the part of Aurelia Popoff.

How satisfactory it would be if all musical productions playing here came up to the standard set by this company! Every principal is an artist. The chorus is composed of people who can sing. The nine men in the orchestra, under the direction of Max Fichandler, are all skilled musicians. The scenery, though beginning to show signs of usage, is acceptable. In short, taste and refinement, so seldom met with, as I say, in musical comedy, are the keynotes of "The Chocolate Soldier." The performance afforded those who saw it a long-to-be-remembered evening of genuine pleasure.

M. P. FINED FORTUNE FOR VIOLATING LAW

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Because he sat as a member of parliament and voted ninety-three times after his firm had been awarded a contract for buying silver for the government, Stuart Samuel has been fined $232,500 under the law prohibiting a member interested in government work retaining his seat and vote.

BANKS TO USE FINGERPRINT SYSTEM FOR IDENTIFICATION
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 10.—The fingerprint system of identifying depositors in its savings department has been adopted by the Commonwealth Trust company. The company is the first financial institution in St. Louis to start this method of providing against possible forgery.

The fingerprints are taken in opening savings accounts for persons from other countries, and especially from those who are not able to sign their names in English. This avoids any danger of forgery turning out to be successful, the originator says.

LANDELL IS ON LEGALLY

Question Raised as to Right to Serve is Disposed of by Deputy Koepsel

Somebody raised a question as to whether or not John Landell of San Juan Capistrano can legally serve on the grand jury. The matter got into the Santa Ana Bulletin and was presented to Deputy District Attorney Koepsel.

It so happens that Landell was elected and is justice of the peace of San Juan township. It also happens that he was drawn by Judge West as a grand juror.

The question was: Can Landell, being a township officer, serve on the grand jury? Koepsel's first answer was that he presumed that he could, else Judge West would not have put him on the grand jury. Koepsel then looked up the law, and found that any township officer is exempt from grand jury service, but that the exemption is at his option. A township officer can serve if he wants to, and if he does not want to, the court cannot make him serve. That is about all there is to it. Landell is on the assessment roll, and possesses all the other legal qualifications. He is not on the grand jury committee reviewing township officers.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold, Ely's Cream Balm Will Stop it in the Sneezing Stage

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm, which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic Balm acts so quickly is because it is applied to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh.

Catarrh is a filthy, disgusting, disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a fifty-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and see how quickly you will be relieved. It is perfectly harmless. Rowley Drug Company.—Advertisement.

AT THE COURTHOUSE

COURT COUNTS
THE BALLOTS

Fifth and Seventh Precincts
Returns Being Made Final
by Judge West

The superior courtroom today looks like a polling place on election night. There are plenty of ballots on hand to be counted, and clerks are keeping tab on the count so far as it concerns presidential electors.

The ballots in Precincts 5 and 7, Santa Ana, are being recounted under the supervision of Judge West. Attorneys Keech and Davis and S. J. Jackman are present representing the Progressives, Attorney H. C. Head for the Democrats and District Attorney West for the county and state officers who were made defendants in the suit brought by the Progressives to secure corrections.

At 2 o'clock the count in Precinct 5 was about complete. Several ballots on which there were doubts as to whether or not they should be counted were held out by Judge West for investigation. No change was made in the vote for Wallace, head of the Progressive ticket, but all the other electors who favor Roosevelt seem to have gained at least six votes net, probably seven.

tence on conviction of manslaughter in the killing of his neighbor, G. A. Winn, at Newhope on Jan. 13, 1910. The decision was reached in the case three months ago, and Overacker immediately asked that he be taken to Folsom that he might begin serving his term. Had he cared to do so he could have remained in jail here until the remittitur arrived.

The opinion of the appellate judges states:
"We have scrutinized the record very closely and are impressed with the conviction that in the trial of the defendant all of his substantial rights were fairly guarded, and that by his conviction of the crime of manslaughter there is not shown to have been a miscarriage of justice."

The principal ground on which Attorneys Rush & Davis and B. E. Tarter appealed was that two jurors should have been excluded by Judge West. The defendant, having exhausted all his challenges, could not remove them from the box. The upper court held that Judge West was right in retaining the jurors.

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 10.—Scores of men in automobiles are trailing the two bandits who held up the Bakersfield-Taft Santa Fe train last night, robbing the express car of $20,000. The railroad express detectives are aiding the Kern County officers. The sheriff believes the bandits escaped to the hills and are trying to make their way toward Los Angeles or into the San Fernando valley or the far west where they may get a Southern Pacific Coast line train for San Francisco. No trace of them has been found since the robbery. It is reported that the Wells-Fargo Company will offer $1000 reward for their capture.

Practically every automobile owner in Bakersfield and surrounding towns have joined in the man hunt which already resembled in magnitude the famous Tracy hunt of several years ago. It is estimated that unless the robbers are caught before night, five hundred men will be on the desert searching them before morning.

Hamby Will Recover
TAFT, Dec. 10.—Express messenger Hamby recovered consciousness last night. He will recover. He said the bandits were not masked but he does not believe he could identify them because they worked too fast. Posses are out from Maricopa. The officers believe others were implicated because the gold was too heavy for two to make a fast getaway alone.

Los Angeles County on Watch
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Sheriff Hammel has ordered northern Los Angeles County deputies to watch for the Taft train bandits, following the report that they are possibly heading southward toward the upper San Fernando valley.

Mojave Keeps Lookout
MOJAVE, Dec. 10.—Railroad officers here have instructed a close watch for the Santa Fe train bandits to prevent them from boarding east-bound trains. There is an unverified report which says the men are working toward Tehachapi. The stations along the line have seen no suspicious looking persons today.

LOOT CONFINED TO GOLD
FOR PAY OF OIL EMPLOYEES
BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 10.—Two men last night held up Express Messenger M. W. Hamby on Sunset Western express train, bound from Bakersfield to Taft, and escaped with $20,000 in gold. Hamby was knocked unconscious by a blow on the head from a blunt instrument, evidently the butt of a revolver.

The robbery was discovered when the train reached Taft at 9:20 o'clock, when it was found necessary to break down the express car door to ascertain why the messenger did not appear. The money was consigned hereafter to the First National Bank of Taft for pay day purposes in the Midway oil fields, of which Taft is

HAS LICENSED 2694 HUNTERS

Local Game Men Think County
Ought to Use Some of That Money for Bounties

This has been the biggest year for hunter's licenses in this county since this state began to license hunters. Since June 15, County Clerk Williams has issued 2694 licenses, taking in $2694, which he has turned over to the State Fish & Game Commission. The County Fish & Game Protective Association recently voted to recommend that a law be passed that would set apart a portion of the income in each county from licenses to be used in payment for bounties on the scalps of coyotes, wildcats and mountain lions.

This proposition would be just so far as it would touch this county. Men who have looked the proposition over say that at present about all Orange County gets for its $2700 hunter's licenses is the service of two deputies, whose combined salaries do not nearly reach $2700, and a few cans of fish for distribution in the trout streams.

It is understood here that the Fish & Game Commission will resist and fight any movement to take away from the control of the commission any money raised by hunter's licenses.

HE GRAPPLED WITH BURGLAR

Thief Slashed His Assailant and Got Away With $42
and Pants

FULLERTON, Dec. 10.—After listening to a burglar moving about until it got on his nerves, J. Y. Boos, an employee of Stern & Goodman, leaped from his bed and grappled in the dark with a man, who was robbing the house of John Robertson on East Commonwealth avenue early yesterday morning. Boos and the burglar engaged in a desperate struggle during which Boos was badly cut about the shoulders and arms. The intruder dragged Boos to the porch and made his escape with $42 and a pair of pants. This is the first burglary that has been reported in Fullerton in many months.

High winds the past few days have damaged the orange crop in this district at least five per cent and much scarred fruit is probable. The outlook otherwise is good. The quality of the navel here this year is excellent and the shipments will be heavier than last year. During the wind Friday night a big shed near Richfield which was used for storing chili, was blown down.

F. R. Bain, president of the Southern Counties Gas Company, left Sunday on a business trip to Chicago.

PATRONAGE IS ON INCREASE

Public Library Being Used
More Than Ever—More
Shelving Added

The library board met last evening and passed the usual bills and heard the report of the librarian.

The patronage of the reference room has doubled since Sept. 1. To accommodate the public the library is opened on Saturdays for twelve hours. The circulation last Saturday was 344 volumes. The regular force consists of Miss McFadden, librarian, Miss Woolaston and Mrs. Branson, but as they are not able to handle the added work, it is necessary to get an extra for December. Miss Dorris Robbins is assisting this month. More shelving, a double stack has recently been put in.

The public library is fortunate in having so efficient a force to manage it.

MATCH COMPANY UNDER INDICTMENT

Made Defendant in Far-Reaching Prosecution Under the Child Labor Law

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 10.—What is declared to be the most far-reaching prosecution ever brought under the child labor laws of America has been instituted by the state of Wisconsin against the Diamond Match Company, the so-called match trust.

Service was secured on the officials of the company's big plant at Oak-kosh. Fines aggregating $199,000 can be assessed under the statute, which provides for a fine of from $25 to $100 for each specific violation of the child labor law.

The action is the result of an exhaustive inquiry by the State Labor Commission.

HAWAII'S VOLCANIC INFERNO.

A Peep Into Kilauea's Lake of Brimstone and Fire.

Kilauea, in Hawaii, is a round, extinct crater about three miles across and 700 or 800 feet deep. It has been the scene of terrific explosions in past ages, but it has now dwindled to the small active crater of Halemaumau, which is sunk near the middle of it like a huge pot, 200 or more feet deep and 1,000 feet across.

In the midafternoon a party of eight of ten of us on horseback set out to visit the volcano. The trail led down the broken and shelving side of the crater, amid trees and bushes, till it struck the floor of lava at the bottom. Our course took us out over the cracked and contorted lava beds, where no green thing was growing. The forms of the lava flow suggested matted and writhing dragons, with horrid, gaping mouths and vicious claws. The lava crunched beneath the horses' feet like shelly and brittle ice. At one point we passed over a wide, jagged crack on a bridge. As we neared the crater the rocks grew warm and sulphur and other fumes streaked the air.

When half a mile from the crater we dismounted and, leaving our horses in charge of the guide, proceeded on foot over the cracked and heated lava rocks toward the brink of this veritable devil's caldron. The sulphur fumes are so suffocating that it can be approached only on the windward side. The first glance into that fearful pit is all that your imagination can picture it. You look upon the traditional lake of brimstone and fire, and if devils were to appear skipping about over the surface with pitchforks, turning their victims as the cook turns her frying crullers in the sputtering fat, it would not much surprise you. This liquid is rather thick and viscid, but it is boiling furiously. Great masses of it are thrown up forty or fifty feet and fall with a crash like that of the surf upon the shore.

The mass of boiling lava is said to be about one and one-half acres in extent. Its surface is covered with large masses of floating crust, black and smooth, like leather or roofing paper, and between these masses, or islands, the molten lava shows in broad, vivid lines. It is never quiet.

Looking upon this scene with the thought of the traditional lake of fire and brimstone of our forefathers in mind, you would say that these black, slithy looking masses floating about on the surface were the accumulation of all the bad stuff that had been fired out of the poor sinners since hell was invented. How much wickedness and uncharity and evil thought it would represent! If the poor victims were clarified and made purer by the process, then it would seem worth while.—John Burroughs in Century.

Helping the Books.

Persons about to install new libraries or those who find their books in bad condition will be glad of the advice offered on this subject by a writer in Les Annales (Paris). Glass cases should always be avoided except for a few precious volumes which are especially looked after and frequently dusted since the confined atmosphere and lack of air circulation in such book-cases are favorable to the development of germs, insects and mold. "Secondly," adds the Scientific American, "the simple precaution should be taken of placing on the shelves behind the books strips of cloth or dannel moistened with benzine, phenol, tobacco juice or turpentine. These strips give excellent results if renewed from time to time."

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
Another advance in the price of bananas was rumored on the market yesterday. E. Garner, of Marston & Martin, stated that last week a second hurricane injured the plantations in the islands around Jamaica and that an advance of 40 cents a hundred resulted in New Orleans. "Prices will probably remain high, as a consequence of the damage done by the storm, until the weather becomes very cold in the East, and the demand falls off," he said. The general tendency in the market at this time of the year is toward firmness because of the holiday trade.

Receipts of apples were 8426 boxes. Prices remained steady, but advances may be expected soon. Raspberries, avocados and persimmons were in evidence. The quantity of grapes is fair, but they are steadily becoming scarcer. Oranges were comparatively plentiful.

Receipts of potatoes were 7020 sacks and prices held at the prevailing rate for the past week, although the market was still weak. Twelve hundred sacks of onions were reported in, and there was nothing worthy of notice in relation to this product, except that the same easy conditions prevailed. Twelve sacks of sweets arrived, and no change in price was recorded. Bean receipts were 309 sacks—somewhat larger than usual.

Eighty-five cases of eggs came in and there were no changes in the prevailing quotations. Local fresh stock exhibited a tendency toward weakness, for some case count eggs were offered at 35 cents. The market will probably remain pretty steady at present quotations until there is evidence of the coming of a cold weather shortage, and then advances are expected. It is not believed that there will be further declines, unless weather conditions should be generally fine.

A situation in the butter market was unchanged. The tendency toward strength was still pronounced, with offerings at as high as 36½ cents a pound. Receipts were rather light—17,107 pounds.

DRIED APRICOTS

BY DR. J. G. BERNEKE OF TUSTIN, IN CALIFORNIA CULTIVATOR

No official statement is as yet available in regard to the dried apricot crop of 1912, but we know that it was the largest since 1908, and perhaps equal to it. As a money maker it can not be said to have been satisfactory to the growers, as is generally the case when the crop is large and the price low.

In Orange county the price paid to growers started with 7 cents per pound net to the grower for orchard run delivered at the packing house. The bulk of the crop was sold at this figure. The price gradually crept up a little, and a few sales were made at 7 1/2 cents. The average was probably below 7 1/2 cents, or might possibly reach it. Practically every grower was anxious to make an early sale, so that by the first of October very little remained in the hands of growers. The early demand for export was quite brisk, and more recently the jobbers of the United States have been ordering supplies, and it is probable that the home demand will find a short supply because of large foreign shipments.

I wish to compare the crop and prices of 1908 with those of 1912, and draw some conclusions for the benefit of the apricot growers of the state.

The crop of 1908 was a record crop of 19,000 tons for the state. It followed a year of only a normal crop, about 1000 tons. There was absolutely no old stock left in the market when the 1908 crop came in. Yet the price in Orange county started with 5 1/2 cents per pound, crept up to 6 cents, at which perhaps the bulk was sold, and a few growers who held on till November or December got 8 cents. The average fell below 6 cents. This year one of the buyers for one of the California packers remarked in May that they expected to pay 8 cents to the grower. At this time an estimate had already been made of 18,000 tons or more for the state, that is, a crop about the equal of 1908. Why should the packer have been willing to pay 8 cents this year when in 1908 they started out with 5 1/2 cents?

I propound this question to the apricot growers of the state, and will be glad to have them attempt an answer. If ever the time was opportune to cinch the grower it was this year. Of every dried fruit there was a large stock of the last year's crop on hand. There was a promise of a large crop of every kind of fruit, with a shortage only in the prune crop. And some deny the shortage even in this crop. Both years are presidential years; alike in that. What has made the difference in price?

I believe that I have the only rational answer that can be given, but if any one can give a better explanation, let him come forward and tell us. The packers could have bought apricots at 5 cents a pound if they had pressed their advantage. I felt certain that while the packers were this year inclined to pay a living price of 8 cents to the grower, there would be enough of them who would sell for 7 cents when approached with that offer. And such was the case at least in Orange county. The apricot growers need some one to do for them what Mr. G. Harold Powell has done for the citrus fruit growers, that is, figure out for them the price for which they can profitably raise their crop. While I do not pose as an authority on this matter, I will make the assertion that many apricot growers did not break even this year on a 7 cents a pound price, that some just broke even, and that but a comparatively small number made a fair profit. I shall make the further assertion that unless the apricot grower can average ten cents a pound from one year to another, he is not engaged in a profitable business. This assertion involves of course the question of expenses, and of the average crop obtained. This is too much for discussion in this article, and I hope to take it up some time later, and would like to see others contribute to a discussion of the matter.

Here is my answer, and I wish I could impress it with full force upon each grower: The packers (or buyers) were afraid that they would drive the apricot growers into the associations. This they would prevent if possible. But a low price such as that of 1908 would have sent the growers knocking into the organized ranks of the growers. It was therefore expedient to pay a fair price or as near that as possible. I make the assertion boldly that every outside grower is indebted to the members of the association for the fact that he received a better price for his fruit than in 1908. Notwithstanding the serious setback which the members of the association received last year in the decline of prices, in common with so many others of the dried fruit producers, the associations have stayed in the field, and are prepared to do better work in the future because of the experience in 1911. What about 1908? Why, just this. There were then no apricot growers' associations in either Orange or Ventura county. They were organized in 1910. These two associations have had a greater influence upon the price than the number of their members would really warrant, and it will continue to be so while they hold together. Apricot growers all over the state should take courage and organize. It will not all be smooth sailing, but they can win out by persistence. If all apricot growers of the state had been organized this year, they could have obtained from 8 to 9 cents a pound, and would have found prompt sales, too. For all the buyers appreciate and desire most of all a steady market and a steady price.

The Scrap Book

Didn't Understand.

The daughter of an old farmer was reading the local paper to him. She had got to the personal paragraphs and read this:

"Mrs. William Morris, nee Black, has returned from a visit to her parents in London."

"I don't quite understand that," said the old gentleman.

"What don't you understand?" inquired the daughter.

"That part about Mrs. William Morris, nee Black. What does 'nee Black' mean?"

"Oh, that's French and means that she was born Black."

"Born black?" exclaimed the father excitedly.

"Yes. 'Nee' is French for 'born.'"

"Well, it ain't so," ejaculated the old man, jumping up and shaking his fist. "I knew her parents, and they were as white as anybody that ever lived, and I'll write to that editor about it."

Before he started off, however, the daughter explained matters, and the old gentleman cooled down.

Carving a Name.

I wrote my name upon the sand
And trusted it would stand for aye,
But soon, alas, the reflux sea
Had washed my feeble lines away!

I carved my name upon the wood
And after years returned again,
I missed the shadow of the tree
That stretched of old upon the plain.

To solid marble next my name
I gave as a perpetual trust.
An earthquake rent it to its base,
And now it lays o'erlaid with dust.

All these have failed. In wiser mood
I turn and ask myself, "What then?"
If I would have my name endure
I'll write it on the hearts of men.

In characters of living light,
Of kindly deeds and actions wrought,
And these, beyond the touch of time,
Shall live immortal as my thought.
—Horatio Alger.

The Mayor Wanted to Know.

In an English town a man who was injured in a serious case of assault was driven to the hospital on a brewer's dray, and the shaking he received in transit considerably retarded his recovery.

"Why wasn't the police station ambulance there to remove him?" demanded the mayor, who was chairman of the justices.

"It was in use at the time, sir," answered the chief constable, with a visible embarrassment.

"It generally is when most needed," sarcastically commented the mayor. "In what way were you using it on this particular occasion? Don't evade the question, sir. I demand an answer."

"Very well, sir; as you insist I will tell you," replied the chief constable. "It was carrying back the gold and silver plate your wife borrowed for the mayoral banquet."

Then the mayor grew crimson and fiercely threatened to clear the court "if any more of that senseless titling is heard."

He Balked.

A fledgling composer took his first opera to Massenet. "You know, of course," began the visitor, "that Moliere used to read his pieces to an old woman in the belief that scenes which found favor with her would be liked also by the audience. My reason for asking you to listen to my work is somewhat the same. I know that whatever pleases you will also please the public." "You are very kind," replied Massenet, "very kind indeed, but really, since you are not Moliere, I see no reason why I should be your old woman."

Unreasonable.

A Scottish farmer whose farm was on the hills to the north of Strathmore had bought, while on a visit to Perth, his stock of matches for the winter. Possibly one or two of the boxes may have got damp on the way home. Anyway, when his wife took out the first box she found that the matches would not light. The farmer also tried them unsuccessfully, taking samples from several boxes.

On his next visit to Perth he took the pile of matchboxes with him and threw them indignantly on the counter of the tobacconist with the remark, "They winna licht!"

"Winna licht!" repeated the shopkeeper, surprised. He took out one match, drew it smartly across the side of his trousers leg and brought it up alight. The farmer watched him intently, and the shopkeeper repeated this with a number of the matches, each of which spluttered into flame.

"What do you mean," he demanded, "by sayin' they winna licht?"

"Aye," said the farmer, "but do you think I can come down a' the road to Perth to hae a rub o' your breeks every time I want a licht?"

Well Satisfied.

A priest was giving a lecture on the evil of great wealth. In the audience was a man the priest knew. The man was the father of seven girls, and the lecturer pointed to this man as an example. "Think," said the priest, "of being the proud father of seven daughters. Think who is happier—the man with a million dollars or the man who is the father of seven daughters. I will ask you, Mr. Sheldon, do you think is the happier?" said the priest, pointing to the subject of his argument. The man arose and said: "Father, I think that a man with seven daughters is the happier. A man with a million dollars worries for more. A man with seven daughters never does."

Cottolene

at Cake-baking time

It is mighty hard to obtain uniform results in cake making—if you use butter or lard—because both of these products vary so in quality.

Cottolene is always uniform—always produces good results. With its use, you can count on a certain kind of cake being the same every time.

Cottolene sells at about the price of lard, and is so rich that one-third less is required than either butter or lard.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.
